Why get vaccinated?

- Get a vaccine to safeguard our language keepers and our culture holders safe for future generations.
- Our elders are particularly vulnerable—we protect them by getting vaccinated.
- The COVID-19 vaccine can protect our people and ways of life now and for generations to come.
- Protect our future—get vaccinated as soon as you're able.
- Vaccines prevent and slow the spread of diseases through the community. Do your part and talk to your doctor or tribal clinic about which vaccines you need this year.

“I am eligible and did take the vaccination. And when it comes down to it, I was thinking of my family. I have children in my house and what I was thinking of is what if I got COVID and brought it home to my kids? I'm the person that goes out and does the grocery shopping. I'm the person that has to go out for work and I leave my children isolated at home, and that's my biggest fear is that I will give it to my children or my elderly parents, and they will die from it. So I was like, this is one way I can prevent that or try to prevent it.” - Participant

Vaccine Hesitancy

- There are reasons why someone chooses to vaccinate or not including not knowing what's in vaccine, fearful of side effects, not believe they are at risk of getting virus, mistrust in health recommendations due to misinformation or previous negative experiences with the healthcare system.
- Your concerns and questions about the COVID-19 vaccine are valid. For up-to-date information and answers to questions, contact the Native American COVID-19 Vaccine Hotline Monday-Friday 8am-5pm at 1-833-829-2426.
